ABOUT

The SHELVING SYSTEM by MOEBE gives you full freedom to build your own piece of furniture and fit it exactly to your needs.

The system can be build as tall as you like, as long as you like, build around corners - and the constructional ease that characterize the system even lets you decide whether the system should serve as a room divider or be placed up against a wall.

The wedge as the defining detail

The Shelving System is constructed around the basic principle of the wedge. Wedges hold the shelves in place and let you place them at any height - with no limitations predefined by us.

The perfect fit of the wedge, following the rounding and slightly structured surface of the legs, and the carefully angled hole in the shelf secure that the parts lock together in a strong joint.

This old principle for constructing furniture contribute significantly to the sideways stability of the system and as the wedge is pushed in from below, putting weight on the shelf makes the joint even tighter and more stable.

Finally the use of wedges makes it possible to build the system using no complicated tools - all you need is a hammer.

STANDARD CONFIGURATIONS

The SHELIVING SYSTEM come in six different standard configuration. Ranging from 85 cm to 200 cm in height and either one or two bays wide.

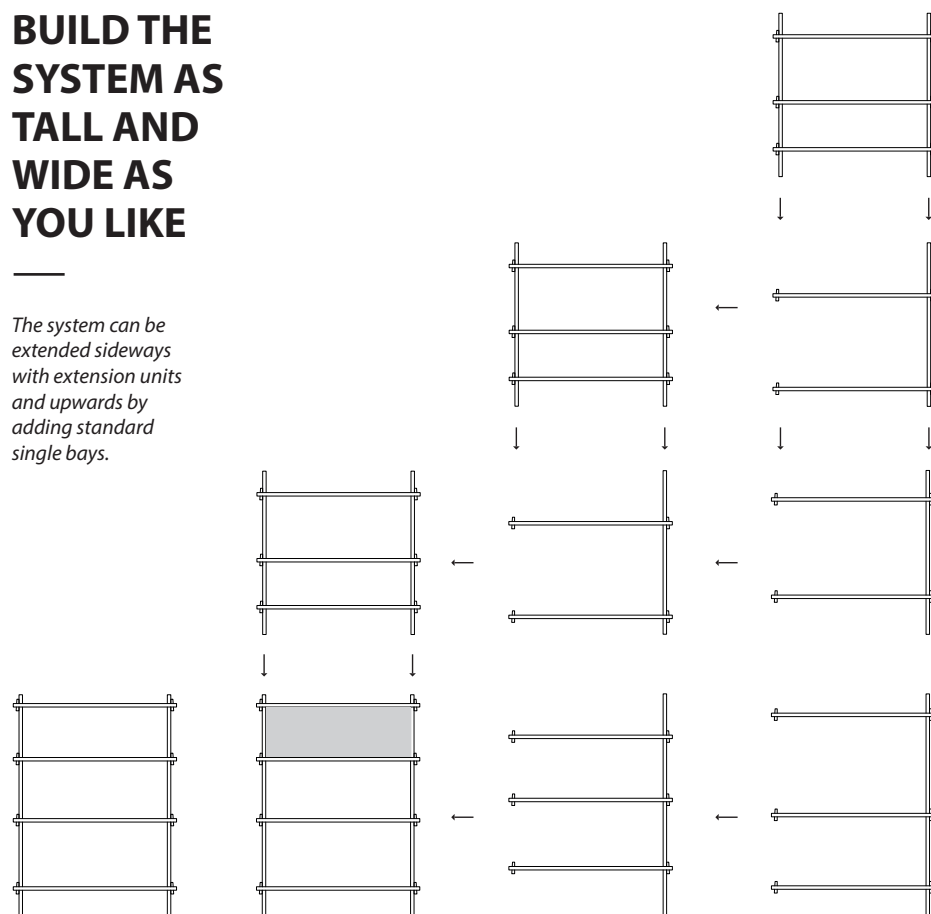

The system is made in two versions;
A natural oiled oak or a black stained oak.
Both versions come with black powder coated steel legs.

You can always add additional shelves and back plates, to make the system fit your specific needs.

BUILD THE SYSTEM AS TALL AND WIDE AS YOU LIKE

The system can be extended sideways with extension units and upwards by adding standard single bays.
